Join us for a dynamic and informative conference designed specifically for nurses and caregivers of individuals with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD). Network with fellow professionals, gain valuable insights from expert speakers, and participate in engaging discussions aimed at enhancing the quality of care and support provided to individuals with IDD.

SESSION OBJECTIVES:

- Gain a deeper understanding of the unique challenges and complexities involved in caring for individuals with IDD.
- Explore best practices and evidence-based interventions for promoting the health, well-being, and quality of life of individuals with IDD.
- Enhance communication and collaboration skills to better support individuals with IDD and their families in navigating the health care system and accessing appropriate resources and services.
