Bringing Care to Patients in Their Homes

Join the region's leader in health care and our Population Health at Home (PHAH) team.

Services include but are not limited to assessing, diagnosing, and managing acute and chronic illnesses, ordering and performing and interpreting diagnostic and laboratory tests, and prescribing pharmacology and non-pharmacologic therapies.

The APP will create an individualized patient centered treatment plan, educate patients and caregivers on medical conditions, and emphasize health promotion and disease prevention.

APP will serve as health care researcher, professional educator, interdisciplinary consultant, and patient advocate.
